Re: United States v. Roberto Cartagena, 24 Cr. 516 (PGG)

Dear Judge Gardephe:

It has come to the Government's attention that the Records Management Department of the Office of the Clerk of Court has received certain materials in response to a Court subpoena issued in connection with the trial scheduled in the above-referenced matter. A representative from the Records Management Department has informed the Government that, although the Records Management Department will permit the parties to visit their offices, physically examine these materials, and take notes regarding their contents, the Records Management Department will not permit the parties to make copies of these materials absent a court order. The Government understands these particular records to be voluminous, as they include call detail records and subscriber information provided by a cellphone service provider.
